Forecast for Friday 25 Aug 2023

Weather: Rather cloudy with showers becoming more frequent during Friday. The showers will become heavy at times with small risk of thunderstorms, and prolonged at times over north Highlands. Fewer showers with brighter skies over hills towards the Great Glen.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 50%

Low cloud and visibility: Between showers the visibility will be good with fairly extensive cloud cover above about 700 to 800m. Marked reductions to poor visibility as heavier showers come along and in more persistent rain in north, with extensive clouds lower down the hills.
